Introduction page that welcomes the user and says hello in different languages.

The log in screen for existing users to get into their account.

Sign up page for new users to make an account.

The new user has to choose a unique username and a password for their account.
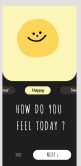

Asking the user some personal information questions.

Some activities that a user likes to do when they are happy, so that they can get a personalized notification when they are sad.
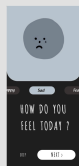

This screen ask the preference of a user for uploading their moods.

This screen asks the user if they want notifications or not.

Current mood selection page option 1

Current mood selection page option 2

Current mood selection page option 3

Current mood selection page option 4

Current mood selection page option 5

Current mood selection page option 6

Current mood selection page option 7
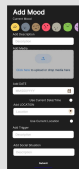

Current mood selection page option 8

Current mood selection page option 9

Current mood selection page option 10

This screen is the main screen where user see the posts of the people he/she follows.

This screen pops up when a user wants to add a mood/ text/ post.

This is the map where a user can see moods of friends/ public.

This is the personal dashboard. It allows the user to view their stats such as how many times they have been happy or sad in the past month.

This the requests page which can be accessed through the main page. It allows the user to accept or decline other user's follow requests.

This is the user's profile page which allows them to view their recent mood events, their following and followers and their profile.
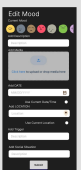

This is the side panel that the user can view from their profile. It provides options to navigate to other pages.

This is the edit profile page that allows the user to edit their profile details or delete their profile.

This is the mood history page that allows the user to view, filter and edit all mood events they have created.

This is the edit mood page that opens when the user clicks on a mood event either from the history or from their profile page. It allows the user to edit the selected mood details.

This is the filter mood fragment that opens when the user clicks the filter icon on the mood history page and allows the user to filter their mood history

This is the about us page that mentions our team with sample text.

This is the settings page that allows the user to change their device permissions, language settings and others

UI Mock Up

Team: DoNotRedeem